Strategy

Gateway's Large Cap 130/30 Extension Strategy aims to:

- Build core equity exposure with a customizable benchmark
- Minimize tracking error relative to the benchmark
- Consistently realize capital losses while deferring capital gains

Applications

- Recharge aged long-only direct indexing portfolios
- Rebalance legacy accounts tax efficiently
- Deliver tax-efficient diversification of concentrated positions

Firm

Founded in 1977, Gateway currently manages $10.9 billion in strategies which incorporate tax loss harvesting strategies for an array of investors, including high-net-worth individuals, through separately managed accounts (SMAs) and collective vehicles. Gateway has provided tax-loss harvesting in SMAs since 2004.

For nearly 50 years, Gateway has offered quantitatively driven equity strategies for tax-aware investors. The team has extensive experience customizing portfolios with long-term investment management of equities and index options, offering a unique toolset to benefit clients.

Helping Taxable Investors Achieve Goals

Adding a long/short extension to a portfolio may provide more consistent tax benefits and tracking error minimization relative to traditional long-only tax-loss harvesting strategies.

Traditional strategies may work well initially, but can face challenges generating taxable losses over the long-term. Long/Short extensions offer the potential for more robust and consistent tax benefits across various market environments while managing tracking error.
